Troubleshooting Tips

Step 1: Place the QiProfiler on the inside of your wrist, making sure all 6 silver dots are in full contact with your skin.

Step 2: If the timer on the phone doesn't start, apply a small amount of water to the wrist area, as shown here. There should be no visible droplets; we just want to moisten the area.

Step 3: If it still doesn't work, try placing the QiProfiler on the bend of your elbow instead.

Step 4: Apply a little water to the elbow area as well, if the device is not picking up. There should be no visible droplets; we just want to moisten the area.

Step 5: If the QiProfil is still not connecting you may be slightly dehydrated. (Hydration is not just water it is electrolytes too) To correct this: Take 1 scoop of high-quality electrolytes (like Dr. Berg's brand – keto-friendly and carb-free), OR Mix ½ teaspoon of Himalayan pink salt in half a glass of water.

Step 6: After 30 minutes, retry the scan on the wrist or elbow with water if needed.
